

THE DAILY BEE. PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. Daily Morning Edition including Sunday... One Year $10.00... Six Months $6.00...

CORRESPONDENCE. All communications relating to news and editorial matters should be addressed to the Editor of the Bee.

THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY, PROPRIETORS. E. ROSEWATER, Editor.

THE DAILY BEE.

Sworn Statement of Circulation. State of Nebraska, County of Douglas, I, J. P. Felt, Notary Public.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 5th day of May, A. D. 1888.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 23rd day of May, A. D. 1888.

SWIDELAP INSPECTOR ALLEN does not propose to have any planks loose in his platform.

If red-hot personal debates followed by the shaking of fists and the issuing of challenges be the proper thing for congressmen and senators, Massachusetts can not do better than to elect Mr. John L. Sullivan to the senate.

CONGRESSMAN P. A. COLLINS, of Massachusetts, has been selected by the national committee to preside at the meeting of the democratic convention at St. Louis.

GENERAL BROOKE comes to Omaha to assume the duties as commander of the department of the Platte under most favorable auspices.

THE opening of the Sioux reservation is hailed with joy in the Black Hills. Of course the consent of the Indians on the reservation must be obtained before the cession of the land becomes valid.

CASPER E. YOST was very much disturbed that Douglas county would not succeed in securing a delegate to the national convention unless the B. & M. oil room attorney be allowed to name delegates to the district convention.

THERE is grim irony in the announcement by the chairman of the Second congressional district committee, that a reduced rate of fare will be given on railroads to all delegates attending the convention.

If the Union Pacific is going to light its wagon bridge across the Missouri by electricity, it is showing a bit of enterprise that hardly could have been expected from that quarter.

THE French syndicate that is now controlling the price of tin will have its hands full when the Dakota mines are fully opened. The tin product of the United States has always been small.

The Brooklyn, N. Y., Times has the correct view of the situation when it says that the voice of New York given in behalf of Mr. Depew as a presidential candidate, "would be impotent and ineffective."

But there are some reassuring indications in the investigation being made by the house committee on manufactures, as noted in our Washington dispatches of Saturday.

It is certainly to be hoped that the investigation of trusts now being prosecuted by the committee on manufactures of the house of representatives will leave nothing to be desired for a complete knowledge of these combinations when it is finished.

Breakers Ahead. The outcome of the Douglas county convention bodes no good to the republican party in the impending campaign.

It was to have been expected that at this crisis in the history of the party the leaders it has honored and trusted, and the men who expect to assume leadership in the coming campaign, would exert all their influence to elevate republicanism in this section and state from the low depths to which it had sunk in its subject subservience to corporate monopoly and its humiliating degradation, through the political slums.

It was manifestly the duty of Senator Manderson, who expects to present himself for endorsement next fall, to plant himself firmly on high ground as the advocate of a loftier standard of political morals.

Mr. W. J. Connell, who is conceded to be the most available man in this district against John A. McShane, not only failed to exhibit the courageous leadership which would have been expected from a man of his calibre, but he committed the unpardonable blunder of making himself a voluntary party to a disgraceful surrender of prerogatives which no convention has ever conferred on its most honored member.

How will Mr. Connell face the farmers and workmen and unfettered republicans of all classes, and explain away his failure to enter a manly protest against having this state misrepresented in the national convention?

What was the object of holding a convention at all if the attorney of the Burlington railroad has the naming of the entire delegation without even submitting these names for ratification to the convention or even a committee thereof?

Passing by this lamentable blunder, let us ask in all candor, why should any republican convention in this state recklessly invite the odium which attaches to the leadership of John M. Thurston at this time?

A general feeling of offence prevails that is causing all towns and villages to "boom," and substantial improvements seem to be the order of the day. Towns of - but two thousand population are securing water works, electric light plants and public buildings, while the citizens vie with each other in the erection of handsome homes.

High Rentals. It has been said that no man can really afford to pay in house rent more than one-eighth of his monthly income. For ten years Omaha has suffered by reason of high rents imposed upon all classes of tenants.

The Trust Investigation. It is certainly to be hoped that the investigation of trusts now being prosecuted by the committee on manufactures of the house of representatives will leave nothing to be desired for a complete knowledge of these combinations when it is finished.

It is certainly to be hoped that the investigation of trusts now being prosecuted by the committee on manufactures of the house of representatives will leave nothing to be desired for a complete knowledge of these combinations when it is finished.

It is certainly to be hoped that the investigation of trusts now being prosecuted by the committee on manufactures of the house of representatives will leave nothing to be desired for a complete knowledge of these combinations when it is finished.

It is certainly to be hoped that the investigation of trusts now being prosecuted by the committee on manufactures of the house of representatives will leave nothing to be desired for a complete knowledge of these combinations when it is finished.

the University of Pennsylvania, and other leading colleges have encouraged and broadened the field for inter-collegiate contests between their students.

It is certainly a matter worthy of note, aside from its religious aspect, that Mr. Gladstone finds time in the midst of his herculean political labors to write an article on "Colorful Ingersoll on Christianity."

The Dakota democrats, after all, resemble ordinary democrats. The newspapers had predicted dire and dreadful calamities when the Watertown convention met.

By COURSE. Hon. John M. Thurston, president of the republican state league and chief attorney for the Union Pacific, will not oppose the Hon. Charles Greene, attorney for the Burlington, in his candidacy for delegate to the republican national convention.

It is a matter of congratulation to our business community that the suspension of the State National bank was merely temporary, and that it has now resumed on a solid foundation.

There was never a better outlook for the farmers of Nebraska than at the present time. The rains of the last two weeks have been general and reports from all sections of the state convey the information that the soil is in splendid condition.

The Falls City Journal is booming T. W. Poppon for representative from Richardson and Pawnee counties.

The Chadron Democrat complains that the B. & M. railroad has already demoralized the people of Box Butte county.

The Dakota City Eagle brings forward the name of Dr. G. W. Wilkinson as a delegate to the republican national convention.

The Wayne Gazette says that ex-Senator Wyck has been gunning for a Crane in Valley county, and got his bird the first time.

The Gresham Review finds that it is generally conceded that Mr. Keeckley will be returned to the senate and Captain Wilson to the house.

The Falls City Journal says that J. C. Cowin, if he will accept, is the man that can walk John A. McShane's political log this fall with neatness and dispatch.

The Sutton Advertiser insists upon the nomination of Henry Grosshaus for state treasurer. Grosshaus was nominated auditor by the anti-monopoles some years ago, and finally declined to run because the railroad pressure was too much for him.

Commenting on the snap judgment of political managers in the Second and Third congressional districts, the West Point Republican observes: "There is a growing opinion among republicans of this congressional district that the convention has been called at least four months too early, and that an adjournment should be taken on May 15th without making a nomination."

It is certainly a matter worthy of note, aside from its religious aspect, that Mr. Gladstone finds time in the midst of his herculean political labors to write an article on "Colorful Ingersoll on Christianity."

The Dakota democrats, after all, resemble ordinary democrats. The newspapers had predicted dire and dreadful calamities when the Watertown convention met.

By COURSE. Hon. John M. Thurston, president of the republican state league and chief attorney for the Union Pacific, will not oppose the Hon. Charles Greene, attorney for the Burlington, in his candidacy for delegate to the republican national convention.

It is a matter of congratulation to our business community that the suspension of the State National bank was merely temporary, and that it has now resumed on a solid foundation.

There was never a better outlook for the farmers of Nebraska than at the present time. The rains of the last two weeks have been general and reports from all sections of the state convey the information that the soil is in splendid condition.

The Falls City Journal is booming T. W. Poppon for representative from Richardson and Pawnee counties.

The Chadron Democrat complains that the B. & M. railroad has already demoralized the people of Box Butte county.

The Dakota City Eagle brings forward the name of Dr. G. W. Wilkinson as a delegate to the republican national convention.

The Wayne Gazette says that ex-Senator Wyck has been gunning for a Crane in Valley county, and got his bird the first time.

The Gresham Review finds that it is generally conceded that Mr. Keeckley will be returned to the senate and Captain Wilson to the house.

The Falls City Journal says that J. C. Cowin, if he will accept, is the man that can walk John A. McShane's political log this fall with neatness and dispatch.

The Sutton Advertiser insists upon the nomination of Henry Grosshaus for state treasurer. Grosshaus was nominated auditor by the anti-monopoles some years ago, and finally declined to run because the railroad pressure was too much for him.

The Sutton Advertiser insists upon the nomination of Henry Grosshaus for state treasurer. Grosshaus was nominated auditor by the anti-monopoles some years ago, and finally declined to run because the railroad pressure was too much for him.

Excitement runs high and is widespread. The multitudes that place implicit faith in the efficacy of horceures are astoundingly large and constantly swelling. The woman's name is Mary Edith. She is about thirty-two years of age. The gentleman who visited her entered a double house and found the front room crammed and jammed with all ages and sizes and both sexes.

Commenting on the snap judgment of political managers in the Second and Third congressional districts, the West Point Republican observes: "There is a growing opinion among republicans of this congressional district that the convention has been called at least four months too early, and that an adjournment should be taken on May 15th without making a nomination."

It is certainly a matter worthy of note, aside from its religious aspect, that Mr. Gladstone finds time in the midst of his herculean political labors to write an article on "Colorful Ingersoll on Christianity."

The Dakota democrats, after all, resemble ordinary democrats. The newspapers had predicted dire and dreadful calamities when the Watertown convention met.

By COURSE. Hon. John M. Thurston, president of the republican state league and chief attorney for the Union Pacific, will not oppose the Hon. Charles Greene, attorney for the Burlington, in his candidacy for delegate to the republican national convention.

It is a matter of congratulation to our business community that the suspension of the State National bank was merely temporary, and that it has now resumed on a solid foundation.

There was never a better outlook for the farmers of Nebraska than at the present time. The rains of the last two weeks have been general and reports from all sections of the state convey the information that the soil is in splendid condition.

The Falls City Journal is booming T. W. Poppon for representative from Richardson and Pawnee counties.

The Chadron Democrat complains that the B. & M. railroad has already demoralized the people of Box Butte county.

The Dakota City Eagle brings forward the name of Dr. G. W. Wilkinson as a delegate to the republican national convention.

The Wayne Gazette says that ex-Senator Wyck has been gunning for a Crane in Valley county, and got his bird the first time.

The Gresham Review finds that it is generally conceded that Mr. Keeckley will be returned to the senate and Captain Wilson to the house.

The Falls City Journal says that J. C. Cowin, if he will accept, is the man that can walk John A. McShane's political log this fall with neatness and dispatch.

The Sutton Advertiser insists upon the nomination of Henry Grosshaus for state treasurer. Grosshaus was nominated auditor by the anti-monopoles some years ago, and finally declined to run because the railroad pressure was too much for him.

Excitement runs high and is widespread. The multitudes that place implicit faith in the efficacy of horceures are astoundingly large and constantly swelling. The woman's name is Mary Edith. She is about thirty-two years of age. The gentleman who visited her entered a double house and found the front room crammed and jammed with all ages and sizes and both sexes.

Commenting on the snap judgment of political managers in the Second and Third congressional districts, the West Point Republican observes: "There is a growing opinion among republicans of this congressional district that the convention has been called at least four months too early, and that an adjournment should be taken on May 15th without making a nomination."

It is certainly a matter worthy of note, aside from its religious aspect, that Mr. Gladstone finds time in the midst of his herculean political labors to write an article on "Colorful Ingersoll on Christianity."

The Dakota democrats, after all, resemble ordinary democrats. The newspapers had predicted dire and dreadful calamities when the Watertown convention met.

By COURSE. Hon. John M. Thurston, president of the republican state league and chief attorney for the Union Pacific, will not oppose the Hon. Charles Greene, attorney for the Burlington, in his candidacy for delegate to the republican national convention.

It is a matter of congratulation to our business community that the suspension of the State National bank was merely temporary, and that it has now resumed on a solid foundation.

There was never a better outlook for the farmers of Nebraska than at the present time. The rains of the last two weeks have been general and reports from all sections of the state convey the information that the soil is in splendid condition.

The Falls City Journal is booming T. W. Poppon for representative from Richardson and Pawnee counties.

The Chadron Democrat complains that the B. & M. railroad has already demoralized the people of Box Butte county.

The Dakota City Eagle brings forward the name of Dr. G. W. Wilkinson as a delegate to the republican national convention.

The Wayne Gazette says that ex-Senator Wyck has been gunning for a Crane in Valley county, and got his bird the first time.

The Gresham Review finds that it is generally conceded that Mr. Keeckley will be returned to the senate and Captain Wilson to the house.

The Falls City Journal says that J. C. Cowin, if he will accept, is the man that can walk John A. McShane's political log this fall with neatness and dispatch.

The Sutton Advertiser insists upon the nomination of Henry Grosshaus for state treasurer. Grosshaus was nominated auditor by the anti-monopoles some years ago, and finally declined to run because the railroad pressure was too much for him.

Excitement runs high and is widespread. The multitudes that place implicit faith in the efficacy of horceures are astoundingly large and constantly swelling. The woman's name is Mary Edith. She is about thirty-two years of age. The gentleman who visited her entered a double house and found the front room crammed and jammed with all ages and sizes and both sexes.

Commenting on the snap judgment of political managers in the Second and Third congressional districts, the West Point Republican observes: "There is a growing opinion among republicans of this congressional district that the convention has been called at least four months too early, and that an adjournment should be taken on May 15th without making a nomination."

It is certainly a matter worthy of note, aside from its religious aspect, that Mr. Gladstone finds time in the midst of his herculean political labors to write an article on "Colorful Ingersoll on Christianity."

The Dakota democrats, after all, resemble ordinary democrats. The newspapers had predicted dire and dreadful calamities when the Watertown convention met.

By COURSE. Hon. John M. Thurston, president of the republican state league and chief attorney for the Union Pacific, will not oppose the Hon. Charles Greene, attorney for the Burlington, in his candidacy for delegate to the republican national convention.

It is a matter of congratulation to our business community that the suspension of the State National bank was merely temporary, and that it has now resumed on a solid foundation.

There was never a better outlook for the farmers of Nebraska than at the present time. The rains of the last two weeks have been general and reports from all sections of the state convey the information that the soil is in splendid condition.

The Falls City Journal is booming T. W. Poppon for representative from Richardson and Pawnee counties.

The Chadron Democrat complains that the B. & M. railroad has already demoralized the people of Box Butte county.

The Dakota City Eagle brings forward the name of Dr. G. W. Wilkinson as a delegate to the republican national convention.

The Wayne Gazette says that ex-Senator Wyck has been gunning for a Crane in Valley county, and got his bird the first time.

The Gresham Review finds that it is generally conceded that Mr. Keeckley will be returned to the senate and Captain Wilson to the house.

The Falls City Journal says that J. C. Cowin, if he will accept, is the man that can walk John A. McShane's political log this fall with neatness and dispatch.

The Sutton Advertiser insists upon the nomination of Henry Grosshaus for state treasurer. Grosshaus was nominated auditor by the anti-monopoles some years ago, and finally declined to run because the railroad pressure was too much for him.

How to Forecast the Weather. Red clouds at sunrise indicate storm. Foxes barking at night indicate storm. The weather usually moderates before a storm.

Domestic animals stand with their heads toward the coming storm. Distant sounds heard with distinctness during the day indicate rain. Clouds becoming gradually bright and dim indicate approaching storm.

Wild geese flying over in great numbers indicate approaching storm. It is said that the blacksmiths select a stormy day in which to perform work that requires extra heat.

When a heavy cloud comes up in the southwest and seems to settle back again, look out for a storm. When oxen or sheep collect together as if they were seeking shelter a storm may be expected.

Fire always burns brighter and throws out more heat just before a storm, and is hotter during a storm. A long strip of clouds, called a salmon or Noah's ark, east and west, is a sign of stormy weather; when it extends north and south it is a sign of dry weather.

If clouds be of different height, the sky being grayish or dark blue, with hardly any wind stirring, however, changing from west to south, or sometimes to southeast, without perceptibly increasing in force, expect a storm. When Women Shop. "Yes, I have plenty of opportunity to study human nature, and to find out just on which days people like to do their shopping," said a lady-walker in Wannamaker's grand depot to a Philadelphia News reporter yesterday.

The whole creek bank was full of absurdities that morning, agitated householders pouring their things into the water instead of into the saucers drawn up to the banks for sale. The houses, and some of them hurrying themselves over into the shallow water in their frantic efforts. Lines of dripping buckets were passed over mounds of household goods and scenes of misadventure were heaped along the bank in such confusion that one could not tell his own belongings. One hungry set of pump-workers, who had worked from 7 in the morning until 9, were regaled with a breakfast of brown sugar, each pomper scooping up the brown sugar with a tin can. They had contributed by a burned-out grocery, and then setting to work again with a cheery chorus. Selling Worthless Bonds. A swarthy Italian peddler, says the New York Star, who may have been a Calabrian brigand in exile, wheeled a hand-cart along Park Row yesterday afternoon, not loaded with oranges and bananas according to Italian customs, but piled high with worthless bonds, and every bond was for a thousand dollars. There was a half a million dollars worth of them. The cart stopped in front of the Sun office, and the Italian calmly untied the stuff and began business. He was a regular customer of the printed thousand dollar bond of the Canada, Michigan and Chicago railway, he offered it for sale for only 10 cents. A crowd of vagrants and loungers surrounded the cart. A lame beggar stood spry forward and begged for the bond. Then an errand boy purchased one. An apple woman next bought three bonds for a quarter. For half an hour the bonds went off like hot cakes. There was an excited crowd around the cart, and the peddler couldn't hand the bonds out fast enough. It finally became rumored that brokers were purchasing the bonds, and there was a wild rush to buy them in as fast as possible. For three-quarters of an hour the bankrupt street was a regular stock exchange. One broker brought $20,000 worth for a $2 bill. The bonds advanced from 10 cents to 25 and then to 50; $350,000 worth of bonds were sold before Wall street knew what happened. Then the Italian brigand put $5.25 in his pocket, and turned his hand-cart away. And they were real bonds—first mortgage bonds of the C. M. & C. railroad, a railway which was never built. The company which organized in 1872 by Townsend Cox, J. H. Harris and other capitalists, who wanted to get the control of the Canadian Southern line out of the hands of the Vanderbilts. It was to run from St. Clair to Lansing, Mich., and connect with the Chicago & Grand Trunk line. The printing presses were set to work, and a million dollars worth of bonds were printed. But the great railway was never built, except on paper. The bonds wouldn't float. They proved to be worth only 1 cent a pound in the market, and yesterday the public were let in on the ground floor as investors. The True Advancement of Women. The Christian Union, in the advance of that sentence: "Just what do you mean? Does it mean the granting of the suffrage to women? It cannot, because comparatively few of the mass of women care anything about suffrage, or would care to give up their domestic life for it. It is a need of the sex from the standpoint of the advocates of the movement, it is not a want of the rank and file; and until it is, not much progress will be made toward the consummation of what we hold to be right. The opening of even the conservative colleges to women, the erection and maintenance of thoroughly equipped colleges for women have settled one demand of the question. The position of women in the professions has settled another disputed point, proving that the world demands ability and does not question sex. Every year this question of women and their place in the world is narrowed and defined, until it is clearly proved that the development of ability and character settles the question independently of theory and debate. Intelligently philanthropic women are understanding more clearly every day that it is in and by itself, and not a mere development of the individual that the mass of humanity is to be lifted into harmony with God's purpose of creation, and that this is accomplished, not by standing outside their lives with theories to which they never come, but by standing shoulder to shoulder with them, individually educating by the development and purpose of their own lives; by holding heart and hand open to suggestions; by recognizing the wants of the masses, not by their own theories, but by giving the impulse that will create wants from needs. This intelligent woman, desirous of benefitting and elevating her race and the world, recognizes. That this is the only method

Have you awakened from a disturbed sleep with all the horrible sensations of an assassin clutching your throat and pressing the life-breath from your chest? Have you noticed the languor and debility that succeed the efforts to clear your throat and head of this catarrhal matter? What a depressing influence it exerts upon the mind, clouding the memory and sifting the brain in pains and strange noises! How difficult it is to rid the nasal passages, throat and lungs of this poisonous mucus which clogs the system and impedes the progress towards the lungs, liver and kidneys, all the organs of the body! It is a terrible disease, and eries out for relief and cure. The remarkable curative powers of POTTER'S KIDNEY PILLS, with their effect on the Catarrh of the Kidneys, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to their fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable authorities. Each package contains one bottle of the KIDNEY PILLS, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT and an IMPROVED URINAL, with treated and directions, and is sold by all druggists for $1.00. POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

KIDNEY PAINS. With their weary, dull, aching, lifeless, all-gone sensation, BELIEVED IN ONE MINUTE BY THE CERTAINLY ANTIPAIN MINERAL WATER OF THE GREAT BRITAIN. Absolutely unrivaled as an instant relief and infallible remedy to pain, inflammation and all the ailments of the kidneys. Price 50c per bottle, or postage free of POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON, MASS.